

Lunada Canyon Riparian Habitat Restoration

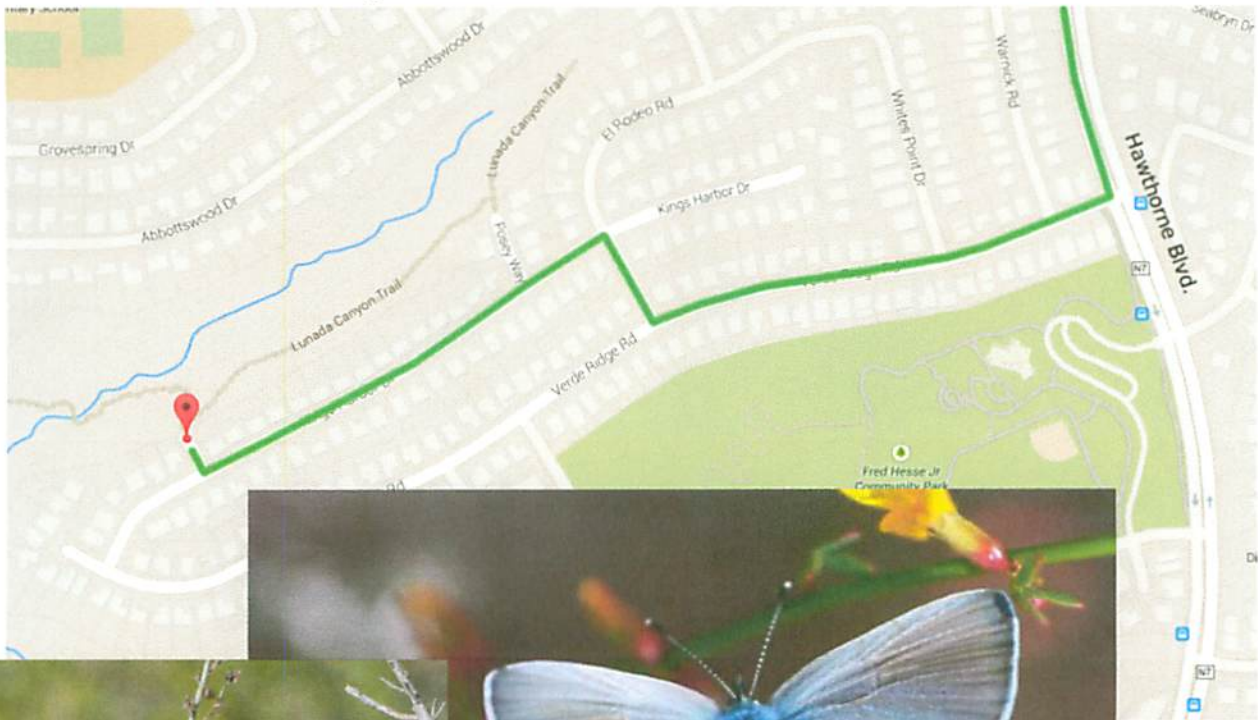

Who: Aric Belsito of Troop 595 in Redondo Beach

What: A Hornaday Project involving California Native planting.

When: January 10th at 9:00AM

Where: Palos Verdes Peninsula Land Conservancy, Agua Amarga Reserve, Lunada Canyon.

The entrance to the reserve is 29200 Rock Park Drive in Rancho Palos Verdes. To get there, go south on Hawthorne Blvd., west on Verde Ridge Rd., north on El Rodeo Drive, West on Kings Harbor Drive, and North on Rock Park Drive.

Why: To Contribute to saving the Palos Verdes Blue Butterfly from extinction, providing habitat area for the California Gnatcatcher and Coastal Cactus Wren, and as a service hour opportunity.